RE: patent SR# 1-8772117877

Dear Haile,

Thank you for contacting eBay's Verified Rights Owner (VeRO) Program in regard to your patent infringement concerns.

As you may know, eBay does not buy or sell any items. We act only as a venue that helps buyers and sellers to do so. We neither see nor inspect any items that are offered for sale on eBay.

If you have secured, or in the future secure, an injunction or other equitable relief on the basis that the products referenced in your letter infringe upon a valid and enforceable U.S. patent owned by you, please send us a Notice of Claimed Infringement (NOCI) including the following information:

(1) A copy of the injunction or other equitable relief enjoining the sale and/or offer for sale of the accused product(s) in the United States on the basis that they infringe upon a valid and enforceable U.S. patent owned by you;

(2) A statement, signed under penalty of perjury, that you have a good-faith belief that:

a. the specific listing(s) on www.ebay.com referenced in your NOCI fall within the scope of such equitable relief;

b. the products listed in the referenced listing(s) were never manufactured or sold in the United States by you or by someone authorized by you; and

c. the seller listing the item(s) does not have a valid license under the patent(s) that form the basis of the injunctive or equitable relief.

You can download a copy of the NOCI form at:
<http://pages.ebay.com/help/community/NOCI1.pdf>

Please be sure to complete all sections of the form, sign, and fax the NOCI to:

If you have any additional questions, feel free to contact us at the following email address: vero@ebay.com.

Thank you for contacting the VeRO Program.

Sincerely,

Alexis V.

Subject: patent

There are 20 or more sellers on ebay that are selling products that infringes on my patent. Most of the seller don't have their company information and some of them are based in China. What do I need to do? Thank, Haile Bekele Techshell Inc.
